INSURGENTS' DRIVE NEARS NEW CAPITAL

Government Troops Driven Back to Second Line Of Defence

FASCISTS COMING CLOSE TO BILBAO

WITH INSURGENTS NEAR TERUEL, Spain, May 11 (AP).—Veteran insurgent soldiers today drove the spearhead of their Eastern offensive farther toward the Mediterranean coast and the temporary capital of Republican Spain—Valencia.

They clambered up the steep, rocky slopes of San Andres Hill in a surprise assault which sent Government troops scurrying back to a second line of defence along the Teruel-Valencia highway just south-east of Teruel.

A brief rain of machine gun and rifle fire drove Government troops from the summit in the dawn attack and put Franco's men about sixty miles northwest of Valencia, where the Government has been established since fleeing from besieged Madrid last November 7.

INTENSIVE BOMBING
BILBAO, Spain, May 11 (AP).—Insurgent air raiders bombed Bilbao eleven times today, apparently in warning of what may come tomorrow if the Basque capital does not comply with an insurgent demand for surrender.

Manifestoes dropped previously from insurgent planes had declared General Emilio Mola's besieging force would "bomb the city by land."

DISORDER IN FREE STATE

Ban Against Anti-Coronation Demonstrations Brings Clashes in Dublin

DUBLIN, May 11 (AP).—Efforts by the outlawed Irish Republican Army and its women supporters to defy the Government's ban against anti-coronation demonstrations brought disorders in Dublin tonight. Several persons were taken to hospital with injuries.

The Government today issued a proclamation banning a parade described as "to repudiate the coronation of an English king as king of Ireland and to demand immediate restoration of the republic."

POLICE ENFORCE RULE
Hundreds of police were stationed in the streets to enforce the rule. Trouble broke out when a number of women supporters of the I.R.A. attempted to parade in their green uniforms of the outlawed organization.

Police halting the procession were stoned. They used batons on the mob and fired revolver shots in the air to clear the streets.

Frank Ryan, Republican leader, mounted the base of a statue in O'Connell Street to address the crowd, but was pulled down.

GANGS ROAM STREETS
Gangs roamed the streets, attacking all wearers of Coronation emblems.

Quiet was finally restored at midnight, but authorities feared a fresh outbreak tomorrow when a labor demonstration against the coronation is planned.

While the mobs fought with police and ambulance sirens shrieked in the streets, the Dal Eirenn calmly debated President de Valera's new constitution for Ireland.

ISSUE WARNING WHEN SHELL DISAPPEARS

WEST LULWORTH, Dorsetshire, May 11 (AP).—A nine-pound shell, capable of blowing up a house, disappeared from the ranges here today. Police warned villagers that under no circumstances should the shell be tampered with.

Canadians Unite In Honoring King At His Crowning

Memorials and Celebrations Prepared Throughout The Dominion From Halifax to Vancouver Island's Western Shores—King's Representative Presiding at Ceremonies at Capital

(By the Canadian Press)
CANADA today celebrates the crowning of a King who knew its Eastern shores as a sailor lad. From Halifax, where he enjoyed shore leave as an eighteen-year-old midshipman in 1913, to the Western Coast of Vancouver Island, from the international boundary to the rim of the Arctic seas, humble and exalted citizens of the British Commonwealth's senior Dominion prepared to honor George VI, rising early to hear by radio the service of his coronation in ancient Westminster Abbey.

NO BUS SERVICE FOR CORONATION

Strike Continues in London—Tram and Subway Workers Remain At Posts

LONDON, May 11 (AP).—London will celebrate the Coronation without benefit of bus service, but fear ended tonight that tram, trolley-bus and subway workers might strike before the vast Coronation ceremonies tomorrow.

The executive council of the Transport and General Workers' Union today refused the request of the tram and trolley-bus men for plenary powers to strike immediately and also refused a request by the busmen for extension of their strike to other services.

The busmen, numbering more than 25,000, have been on strike for more than a week.

Throughout the nation, lasting memorials of the day were prepared—acorns from which will grow oaks, symbols of the seaman's ship and daring that brought aboard oak-timbered wind-driven ships, the men and women who made this country British.

FROM COAST TO COAST
Tonight fireworks will flash in populous centres. From coast to coast Boy Scouts will touch fire to stacks of wood, setting alight a chain of beacons that will blaze across 3,000 miles of the Commonwealth's biggest component.

Throughout the country, people will flock to churches for special services.

REPORTS THREAT OF DICTATORSHIP

United States Envoy to Germany Says Billionaire Behind Fascist Plot in America

BERLIN, May 11 (AP).—United States Ambassador William E. Dodd today warned against the danger of a Fascist dictatorship in the United States which he said an American billionaire was ready to support "and of course control."

Dodd disclosed he had written a letter to Senator Robert J. Buckley (D-Ohio) declaring "the situation is more dangerous than at any time since Lincoln."

Copies of the letter were sent to Senator Carter Glass (D-Va.) and others, pointing out to them what Dodd considered a trend in some United States quarters towards establishment of an authoritarian state.

He declined to name the billionaire, saying his information had come to him confidentially from friends.

Thousands Rise From All-Night Vigil in London Streets to See King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Drive in Splendid State Procession to Coronation

London Brilliant as Morning Light Shines on Loyal Crowds

LONDON, May 12 (CP).—Dawn dispelled fog over London's streets today, but a threat of rain still was in the air as millions of people flocked into available space along the Coronation route to watch the King and Queen drive to their service of dedication.

Fully 2,000,000 of the expected 6,000,000 spectators lined the route at 6 a.m. soon after daylight dimmed the blazing electric lights that turned the city into a glowing mass of color throughout the night.

Thousands danced and capered through the streets, their enthusiasm unflagged by an all-night wait. Thousands of others rose from makeshift beds in Hyde Park and Green Park to take their places along the curbstones.

More than 50,000 swarmed the Mall, leading from Admiralty Arch to Buckingham Palace. The temperature hovered around the 48-degree mark, while the sky was overcast. The prospect of drizzle or heavier showers did nothing to check the constant flow of humanity, which by the tens of thousands flooded into the Coronation zone, where all but vital vehicular traffic was barred.

A BRILLIANT SPECTACLE

In the morning light London presented a brilliant spectacle to honor the King and Queen as they take the oath of service to the Empire, a service described the other day by Prime Minister Baldwin as one "that can only end with death."

The lines of red and white banners that highlighted decoration of the sanded streets were revealed in all their color. The West End was literally a mass of color with blue, yellow, gold and green as background to the banners. Outstanding among flags was the blue cross of St. George.

The Palace itself, where the King and Queen retired early last night and where many royalties are guests, stately homes, hotels and apartments hummed with activity.

GATES OF PALACE OPEN

Punctually at 8:40 a.m. the great gilded gates of Buckingham Palace swung open and the first of the day's processions moved toward Westminster Abbey.

An assemblage of 7,500 personages waited within the hush of the Abbey's ancient walls and age-old trappings for the coming of the monarch and his wife. Of these, there were 200 Canadians, fully representative of the Dominion's governmental, civic, church and defence administrations.

At 6 a.m. London time nobility in velvet and ermine robes and carrying coronets, began arriving at Westminster Abbey. Some came by boat on the Thames, landing at Westminster Pier.

CHILDREN TAKE PLACES
While stands filled and roofs and windows of buildings became crested with spectators, 40,000 school children, all tagged like so many parcels, were ushered into a special area along the Embankment. It was filled by 9 a.m.

Wellington—New Zealand began its celebration early, eleven and a half hours ahead of Britain. A message of loyalty from Girl Guides which was relayed from town to town was handed to the Governor-General, Lord Galt, for transmission to Their Majesties.

CAPTOWN'S CELEBRATION
Capetown—A united Coronation service will be held in the Groote Kerk. Large scale naval celebrations include flood-lighting of all warships in False Bay. Commemorative trees are being planted at many points in South Africa.

Bombay—Despite a ban on celebrations by the Congress Party as a sign of disapproval of the new constitution of India, a number of festivities have been arranged for many places in India. A royal salute will be fired from Indian military stations.

FRIENDLY HELP AIDS ALL TYPES

Many Misconceptions Exist Concerning Work of Body, Says General Secretary

"One of the popular misconceptions of the work of the Friendly Help Welfare Association," said Miss Elizabeth Grubb, the general secretary, yesterday, "is that we help only the poor and needy, the underprivileged and the subnormal. This is no more true than that lawyers help only criminals."

"Perhaps one of the reasons for this misconception is that the depression, with its trail of unemployment and resulting distress, has laid a heavy load on family case workers. But there are types of case work done by this organization that are in no way associated with poverty or relief. On the other hand, we do not assume responsibility for helping families, who by paying for it, can obtain the service they need elsewhere."

"A nervous child puzzles his parents and his doctor by his behavior. A teacher is worried about a child who seems backward at school. Because of the similarity between our work and that of the Provincial Child Guidance Clinic, these cases are referred to us. One wonders if understanding treatment in childhood might not have saved some of the patients who have later been committed to Escondido."

"The Friendly Help Welfare Association is one link in the great chain of social preventive effort today. 'A Welfare Investment' is the campaign slogan. This is an investment in human personality and character development that will result in richer citizenship—straight through society, rich and poor alike."

FAMOUS DIVA MAY BE HERE

Mme. Galli-Curci's Representative in City Negotiating Engagement

One of the world's most famous operatic singers, Mme. Amelita Galli-Curci, may be heard in Victoria next autumn.

This interesting announcement was made by Miss Patricia Grace Arons, New York, personal representative of the diva, who paid a flying visit to the city over the week-end to enter into negotiations for the appearance of the renowned artist here in the course of her Canadian tour in the early part of her 1937-38 season.

Madame Galli-Curci has already been engaged to sing in Winnipeg on October 12, her sponsor being Fred Geo. of the Celebrity Artists Series. She would come out to the Coast direct from there, so that should she be engaged for a concert in Victoria, it would be tantamount to a gala opening of the concert season here.

Miss Arons brings most glowing accounts of Madame Galli-Curci's receptions for the six concerts of her Spring season. On these she had as accompanist her husband, Homer Samuel. The press everywhere gave the most enthusiastic reviews, indicating that the great singer has entirely recovered from the effects of the sore operation, and that she is singing more gloriously than ever. Her Canadian tour will include, in addition to Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal and Quebec, where she is already booked; and, if all goes well, Vancouver and Victoria.

PHLEGMATIC

Golfer—Can you let me have a caddy who doesn't giggle all the time?
Caddiemaster—Well, there's old Mac over there. He hasn't smiled for forty years—but, of course, I can't guarantee him.

IS SENTENCED TO TWO YEARS

Arthur Boden to Serve Term in Penitentiary With Hard Labor

Arthur Boden, pleading guilty to having held up the Fernwood Pharmacy on April 29, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary with hard labor by Magistrate H. C. Hall yesterday morning. The accused had a previous record of administering drugs with intent to steal, and was sentenced to two years in Vancouver. He had been allowed out on parole after serving half the sentence.

When his case was called in the city police court yesterday, W. A. Brethour appeared as counsel for the accused and asked to alter the election from that of a preliminary hearing to one of summary trial before the magistrate. A plea of guilty was entered.

Mr. Brethour put forward the plea that the accused was under the influence of liquor. H. R. Matthews told of the holdup about 10 o'clock in the morning at the Fernwood Pharmacy. He was busy putting up an order with a messenger boy waiting to take it when the accused entered the store. The accused, after attacking witness, had made for the till and took $6. To Mr. Brethour, witness said he had not seen the man before.

RENDERED AID

F. A. Freer, from the next store, saw the scuffle and went to the aid of Mr. Matthews. To Mr. Brethour the witness said the man was under the influence of liquor.

Cordelia Alex Briggs answered a call for aid when he got there the accused was on his back, with Mr. Freer holding him. The accused was in a fainting condition, and witness saw bills beside him. The accused smelled of liquor, he said.

W. McGee was called to give character evidence in defence, but when

Mr. Brethour proceeded to question the witness about the condition of the accused that morning as to drinking, he was checked by C. L. Harrison, who said that this was not character evidence.

The offence carries life imprisonment with lashes as the maximum punishment. The magistrate imposed two years, with hard labor.

Ticket holders will enter by the main centre doors, non-ticket-holders by the door near Courtney Street. Friday night's performance will be wide open to the public, without charge. On both evenings the doors will be opened at 7:30 and the performances will start at 8:30. Murphy's landlady said: "Pat, I'm afraid I shall have to charge another two shillings. You're such a big eater."

"For Heaven's sake don't do that!" said Murphy. "I'm killin' myself already tryin' to eat what I'm paying for now."

Bearers of block 2 tickets are requested to enter through the colonnade at the opposite end of the buildings. Naval and military units will be in position at 10:40 o'clock. The public is asked to take special care not to damage shrubs and flowers in the square. It is anticipated the colorful ceremony will be over at 12:15 o'clock.

Later, many of the visitors attended "The Romance of the British Empire," the historical pageant, presented at the Royal Victoria Theatre by local school children. THE CORONATION

In the brilliant and solemn ceremony, hallowed by the traditions of more than ten centuries, King George VI was crowned in Westminster Abbey today. All proceeded according to the appointed course—the Recognition, the Oath, the Anointing, the presenting of the Spurs and the Sword, the investing with the Armil and Imperial Mantle and the delivery of the Orb, the Investiture per Annulum et Baculum, the putting on of the Crown, the Intronization, the Homage and the Recess. The scene was one of magnitude and brilliance in a building where every Coronation of an English sovereign since 1269 has taken place. There was the Coronation Chair made to the order of Edward I to enclose the "stone of fate," St. Edward's Crown was used, then replaced by the Imperial State Crown, made for Queen Victoria a century ago, a Crown set with many thousands of stones, including a great sapphire which was in the Coronation Ring of Edward the Confessor, a ruby once belonging to the Black Prince, and the Cullinan Diamond. The Orb of England figured, too, in the ceremony, one of the oldest of Christian emblems, and it was placed in the King's hand by the Archbishop, with these words: "And when you see this Orb, set under the Cross, remember that the whole world is subject to the power and empire of Christ, our Redeemer."

The service in the Abbey was based upon that set forth in the Liber Regalis inscribed six hundred years ago, and resembling the Pontifical of Egbert of the ninth century, which was the Order for Crowning or "Hallowing" the Anglo-Saxon monarchs. Those who sat up during the early hours of this morning to hear the radio broadcast must have been deeply impressed by its solemnity, and must, too, have obtained some inkling of how the traditions of the past were so scrupulously preserved. The service spoke for itself; listeners, however, only knew in a cursory way of the personages in the Abbey, for the ceremony calls into activity numerous ancient offices and rights and privileges that go back through the centuries and are jealously claimed on such an occasion.

Perhaps the most impressive part of the ceremony was the acclamation following the crowning, and on its ending the Archbishop's words: "Be strong and of good courage; Observe the commandments of God, and walk in His holy ways; Fight the good fight of faith, and lay hold on eternal life; that in this world you may be crowned with success and honor, and when you have finished your course, receive a Crown of Righteousness, which God the Righteous Judge shall give you in that day." Following this came the singing of the Abbey choir: "Be strong and play the man; Keep the commandments of the Lord God and walk in His ways." The Intronization could only be dimly pictured, for it was a silent ceremony, but the words of the Archbishop rang out firmly as he stood before the King on his Throne: "Stand firm, and hold fast from henceforth the Seat and State of Royal and Imperial Dignity, which is this day delivered unto you, in the Name and by the Authority of Almighty God, and by the hands of us the Bishops and Servants of God, though unworthy."

There was in today's great ceremony three loyalties perpetuated, those to God, to King and to Country. The service at a Coronation of a British monarch is significant in this, that it lays all at God's feet. The allegiance to the Throne is in the spirit that it may stand "fast and firm in the righteousness which exalteth a nation." The people in their love of country pay the consecration of the King and his exalted office may be accepted in God's sight as the consecration of one and all of them for the duties of high citizenship. Perhaps no ceremony within living memory has touched the hearts of so many to the same degree of knowledge of how His Majesty is looked to as the head of a growing family and as a centre of unity. It has been a clarion call to the lofty and grave task with which all British citizens are confronted. The very character of the Coronation Service bespeaks the power of grace and the setting of God's will before all else. It is a summons to set His standard aloft in public and in private life and to a consecration of the British Empire as a source of good to other nations and peoples.

HEDLEY AMALGAMATED

The denouement of Hedley Amalgamated Gold Mines, Ltd., and, incidentally, its effect on the mining stock market in this Province, could have been avoided if the report on the property by Mr. A. M. Richmond, former Provincial Mining Engineer, had been published a year ago when it was submitted to the Government. The suppression of that report throws a responsibility on the Provincial Administration that it cannot escape. The finding of Commissioner G. L. Fraser ceases the Provincial Government for failure to bring pertinent facts in its possession to the attention of the public. The Richmond report to the Government, made in April, 1936, pointed out that claims of an indicated ore body at Hedley Amalgamated of 1,015,000 tons, worth $7,246,281, were being made on behalf of the company for a property which at that time had no significant quantity of commercial ore in sight.

As pointed out in our columns, it appears that Mr. Richmond's successor, Dr. M. S. Hedley, was "duped" by the surreptitious "salting" of samples taken by him after the Richmond report had been filed with the Government. The result of this was that the price of the stock doubled early this year, and all on the basis of spurious samples. The reasons advanced why the Provincial Government suppressed the Richmond report do not sound convincing. That it was suppressed has meant that the public were not protected, and that is a very serious position in which the Government finds itself. If the Administration had doubts, and the present Deputy Minister of Mines says there were "suspicious," then there should have been an immediate investigation and the people should have been informed of its findings at the earliest possible moment. That could have been done a year ago. Instead, matters were allowed to drift. Many investors, on the strength of utterances of the gold mining company, took shares and the Government took no steps to stay transactions, although it had "suspicious" about the operations. There was what can only be described as cold-blooded negligence in a matter in which the people look to their administrators for protection.

The outcome of the lack of adequate governmental supervision over mining properties is a loss of faith in the mineral resources of the Province. It is advisable at all times that correct information should be available to the public about such properties. It is only legislation and governmental supervision that can insure this. The public were misled in the matter of Hedley Amalgamated. That is clear. What is equally clear is that the Provincial Government had information in its possession a year ago which should have been used for the purpose of safeguarding against investment in a property in which investors were bound to lose their money.

FEARING THE TRUTH

Premier Mussolini and his Fascists are nothing if not thin-skinned. It is not enough for them to enforce a censorship of the press in their own country, but they must look askance at any country where the freedom of expression is exercised. There is now a ban on most of the British newspapers going into Italy. Italian newspaper correspondents have been recalled from London. This is all because the British newspapers have been reporting events in Spain and have told of the defeat of Italian troops in the civil war there. Those troops were defeated, and the British newspapers were willing to tell the truth, which seems to be unpalatable to the Italian Government. That Government, too, has decided to institute a measure of boycott against the Coronation. It will have no official representative in attendance. The only reports that will be allowed to appear in the Italian press on the subject will be censored officially.

It is all an intensely small piece of business, but it does serve to illustrate the circumscribed view a dictatorship takes and how susceptible that form of government is to criticism, either direct or indirect. The only lesson to be derived from the action of Premier Mussolini in relation to British newspapers is that Fascism fears the truth. In this respect it is the antithesis of democracy.

This year's defence vote in Australia is $44,000,000 and the money is being obtained from revenue: a public loan for the purpose is unnecessary. Australia is proceeding on the principle that any external indebtedness must be reduced so as to provide against the contingency of adverse seasons and low export prices.

YOUTH

Life is a fountain that overflows only at dawn and early morning. As it gets older, it still has pleasures, but they are sober and staid, tinged with a darker green or Autumn brown. Spring leaves have a tint we miss in July or October; their freshness and soft river glides quickly; the sea moon, a Poet always paint the gods young, and half our heaven is in the thought of youth—youth—youth. Everything young is happy. There is a universal gladness before the heat of the day. We spent boyhood and youth in an enchanted world, with fountains of joy scattering raindrops of delight simply to live in these years. As we get older, happiness gets daintier and needs always catering; but in our Spring-time it laughs and thrives on the poorest fare. Youth is the great alchemist—it and the light that turns hill-tops to amethyst and the rough earth to gold. It transfigures everything to its own brightness, and, like the sun, makes a pavilion of its own beams.—Anon.

Do not act as if you had ten thousand years to throw away. Death stands at your elbow. Be good for something while you live and it is in your power.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

Take a map of the British Empire and you will find yourself looking at a map of the world. East, West, North, South, let your eyes follow the degrees of latitude and the meridians of longitude where they may, you will come across some soil over which today floats the Union Jack. As the Union Jack itself was made up from a friendly union of the Crosses of St. George, St. Andrew and St. Patrick it is only natural to find the British Isles the hub of the greatest union of free and loyal peoples that the world has ever known in one commonwealth of nations. For the definition of free I refer you to other parts of the world from which racial, religious and civil freedoms have fled, and there, by contrast, may you learn what it is to be free. For the definition of loyal I can find no quick answer; for loyalty seems to spring from some inner recess of feeling which cannot be captured in words. Indeed loyalty is but a shoddy article, and contents itself with spreading a flag for a cover to cover some rostrum table, and putting a water jug on top of that. I saw a dog, once, die of heartbreak on his master's grave. I think that was loyalty. I knew a man, once, who for forty-two years refused honor, riches and pleasure, to be with his crippled sister. I think that was loyalty. I saw a dying piper, once, play his company over the top in trench warfare, after both his legs had been torn to shreds by shrapnel. I think that was loyalty. Yet it is a higher, less transient, and more healing loyalty that we serve today. I think it is loyalty to the lasting principles of freedom and the brotherhood of man. Only a force as strong as that, I believe, could bind 900,000,000 of the world's peoples together today, and turn their common thoughts to a simple, human family that rules with the advice of a free parliament, chosen by a free people. That, for me, is the significance of Coronation Day, the pledge of the Union Jack, and the meaning of the words: God Save the King.

You will need a map of the world today, if you are going to follow the broadcast of the British Empire. You will be tuning in to the continents of Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia and America; to outposts on the Arctic, Antarctic, Pacific and Indian Oceans; to the northern and southern hemispheres; to a spread of the horizon bounded by a full day's march for the sun. You will hear men and women of many tongues, and innumerable dialects. You will be conducted into the parlors of the rich, and of the poor. You will hear humble folk, whether they be royalty, nobility, or commoners, and none more humble than he who today will become the summit and symbol of our cherished liberties—His Majesty King George VI, together with His gracious Consort, Queen Elizabeth. England flowered when last we had a Queen Elizabeth. It was an Empire that flowered under a George stood firm amid chaos. It is an Empire that is flowering again today. Sown in the field of right, nurtured with the rain of reason, may that Empire flourish long, to produce abiding fruits of liberty and the common weal of man. Centuries attest that as the Anglo-Saxon way. Long live liberty, freedom and right. Long live their Majesties: The King, The Queen. Look at the flags on the street. Look at the Union Jack, which marked the birth of this commonwealth of free peoples. Look at the White Ensign, which speaks of freedom on the seas; of cockle shells that defeated an armada; of Trafalgar Bay; of the Mole at Zebrugga. Were they aggression? Nay, think again. Hard would it have gone with liberty but for those cockle shells, and wooden hulls, and loyalty! Look at the Blue Ensign and the Red Ensign, above a world of commerce; of peaceful hulls that roam the world around in amity and friendship. Look, today, at the Royal Standard, with its lions on a golden field; for many a year it has stood for honor, not of the brittle kind, but untarnished, clean, and bright; a pledge with 500,000,000 people of their right to live, unfettered, free. That is the lesson to be handed on, as it has been handed on for countless generations. Look once again at the map. See, Canada is more than half of all the soil of this great Commonwealth. Would you stay free? Then say, with me: Long live Their Gracious Majesties, The King, The Queen! God bless them!

He Looked Gaelic

There's a man in Victoria who probably is still puzzled to know who was the stranger that addressed him last Christmas while he was working in his garden some weeks ago. It was G. C. "Gibb" Smith, of Winnipeg, who will celebrate his ninetieth birthday on Coronation Day. How did Gibb know that the stranger could understand Gaelic? That is what his niece (who told me this story) asked him. Gibb replied: "Oh, I just knew he could, from the look of him."—F.G.A.

Wrestling Gossip

Introduced to Victoria wrestling fans on February 11, 1929, the bone-bending game has attracted approximately 145,000 fans since that date. The first match staged here under the Australian round system, which, in our opinion, has been the means of increasing the game's popularity, was staged at the Bay Street Armories. Ed "Strangler" Lewis, many times kingpin of the heavies, and Bob Kruse, young Oswego cabbage grower, were the headliners. Fourteen hundred fans witnessed the show and from then on the mat game really drew good houses. Rugged Bob Kruse came back soon after, and with "Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg as his opponent, drew $1,600, Victoria's biggest wrestling take. More than 2,000 pachyderms have shown here since the inaugural show at the Armories. Lewis, Sonnenberg and Ed Don George all performed here when they were champions. In pre-depression days when top prizes were $220, exactly double what they are today, some excellent games were taken at the Tillicum gymnasium. Master showmen, pleasing entertainers and capable of taking the bumps, the pachyderms still continue to provide some grand entertainment for local fans. The game is a little rougher than it was a few years ago, but leading grapplers inform us that the rougher the battle the bigger kick the fans get out of the show, and after all, the fans come first in all branches of sport. They pay the piper.—S.T.

A Simple Diet

"What does your wife pack in your lunch kit?" Bill, the hardware man, asked a fellow passenger on the George bus. "Well," replied the first party, "I usually get bread and butter sandwiches with a filling of bread and butter. Sometimes my lunch is varied by leaving out the filling." A third passenger grinned: "You have a lot of crust." "We met Bill aboard the liner Aorangi on Saturday evening. He said he planned to build a rowboat and was seeking a few nautical ideas." Pedestrians on Fernwood Road near the intersection of Grant Street on a recent morning had a rare treat, the sight of a runaway horse and bakery wagon. The baker pulled into the brake lever and dashed into a house with a basket of bread. Doubtless motivated by Spring, the horse sprang away down the street, making good time in spite of the brake. Then the baker showed he was no loafer. He dropped his basket, and in true marathon form, overhauled the speeding horse within two blocks. Spectators were glad the baker caught his nag, but sorry the show was over. Our obstinate friend bemoans the fact that radio-crooners receive more than prime ministers who cannot sing a note. But a prime minister can be of greater note than a crooner. Perhaps he could also back a note for a greater amount than any crooner could. They say you cannot keep a good man down. How about a deep-sea diver?—G.B.

A Golfing Party

Had the honors of playing in the annual President vs. Captain match Sunday at the George-Vale Golf Club and also attending the supper in the clubhouse in the evening. Although I was a member of the winning side, which Dr. Baillie club president, skippered, and with my partner, Ricky, went down to defeat to Jack and Ernie, 2 and 1. The players hurried after putting out on the thirteenth green as on the hill before reaching the fourteenth tee, there was Donald and his assistant ready to quench a person's thirst. Several new greens on the last nine have been laid out, and when the course is completed, it will be one of the best golf courses in the Northwest. Major Gordon Smith, a former newspaperman, got the "jack pot" from one of the machines at the nineteenth. So it was a profitable day for the major. George Cartwright, the man who

The happy couple were the recipients of numerous handsome presents from their many friends. With them The Colonist extends hearty congratulations for a long life of happiness and prosperity.

New Port of Entry—We understand that representations will be made to the Minister of the Interior regarding the advisability of making Kamloops or some other place near that point a port of entry. Heretofore imported goods from Great Britain or the United States have been taken to New Westminster, where those living in the Upper Country have had to clear them. This was all very well before the C.P.R. was completed, as there was no other way of procuring goods except by the Royal City, but now important goods being taken there and then reloaded. Kamloops, it is stated, would be a convenient place for all concerned, and it is hoped that satisfactory arrangements will be effected before long.

Whistle for It

Should a flautist wet his whistle ere he trills the fierce cadenza? Why not? But should he keep a street car waiting thereby? We consider the problem last evening in a city street car headed for Esquimalt. Two big, young boys had dragged aboard a welter of drums and dunnage bags and music portfolios and had settled down, importantly, left forward. The car had hissed warning of departure when one lad leaped to the door with an agonized cry that he had left his flute in the soft drink shop. Conductor was nice about this, else had some orchestra been short on the wood wind last evening. We waited there on the corner while the young Pan sped away, returning in about the number of seconds wherein Puck engirdled the earth triumphantly bearing his pipe. "Why not tie a string on your finger?" asked the conductor, as we rumbled to the bridge. That was all; nothing more.—F.G.A.

SEES DECIDED IMPROVEMENT

George W. Allan, K.C., and Other Officials of Hudson's Bay Co. Are Here

"Business conditions in British Columbia are such as to stimulate the greatest optimism," declared George W. Allan, K.C., Winnipeg, yesterday at the Empress Hotel. "It is refreshing to come to British Columbia and see the general activity prevailing here."

Mr. Allan stated there was decided improvement in business conditions throughout Canada. The outlook for the future was full of promise. There was nowhere ground for pessimism, but sanity must mark trade movements in a general way, if there was to be the hoped-for acceleration in the return to normal conditions.

He is in Victoria in his capacity as chairman of the Canadian committee of the Hudson's Bay Company. With him are P. A. Chester, Canadian general manager of the company, F. P. Martin, general manager of stores, and A. H. Doe, superintendent of buildings. The party is making the regular tour of inspection of Hudson's Bay Company activities in the West.

Mr. Allan looked for a good crop on the Prairies and continuation of good prices for wheat, which would have a vivifying effect upon the country. It was, of course, too early to forecast crop results. Continued moisture would be needed from now on, but conditions were satisfactory up to this point, stated Mr. Allan.

School Children Of Esquimalt Are Given Souvenirs

Lampson Street School was the scene yesterday of the presentation of Coronation souvenirs to students of Esquimalt's Public and High Schools in honor of the Coronation of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

Mrs. G. P. Clarke, regent of the Mary Croft Esquimalt Chapter, presented to the students, through their principal, Hugh Creelman, framed portraits of Their Majesties as gifts of the L.O.E. Trustee.

Mrs. G. P. King gave each student a Coronation medal supplied by the municipality, and a copy of a special booklet issued by the Department of Education.

Major A. A. Warder, chairman of the Esquimalt School Board, presided at the ceremony. Reeve Alexander Lockley and R. H. Pooley, K.C., addressed the gathering briefly, while Rev. Arthur Bischoffberger, Rev. Father A. B. Wood and Rev. F. W. Anderson also spoke on various aspects of the Coronation.

A Scots laborer was slipping out of the yard during working hours for a drink when he ran into the post.

"Hullo!" said the boss, pleasantly. "Were you looking for me?"

"Aye," replied Macpherson, "I was lookin' for ye, but I didna want tas find ye."

CORONATION IS ADDRESS THEME

Rev. E. F. Church Speaks to Members of Kiwanis Club At Luncheon Here

"The nation that can mould itself spiritually in the likeness of the Son of God will have the better chance in the struggle for the liberation of the world," declared Rev. E. F. Church in addressing members of the Victoria Kiwanis Club at the Empress Hotel here yesterday. Mr. Church was speaking on "Canada's Part in the Coronation," and incidentally giving his farewell address to fellow Kiwanians before departing for his new charge in Vancouver.

After reviewing the material and commercial sides of the glittering spectacle of the Coronation of a King of England, the minister gave an inspiring insight into the spiritual aspect of the ceremony, detailing the meaning of the various episodes connected with the crowning taking place today in London, the seat of the British Empire.

ENTIRELY RELIGIOUS

The Kiwanis padre told of the tradition, the legends and the mythology that linked the Coronation of today with those observed through the centuries past. "It is not a spectacle or a show. Every part of the Coronation ceremony has a very real and a very definite meaning. Every detail has spiritual significance and is entirely religious, as are all ceremonies of State in the British Empire," Mr. Church observed.

The hallowing of the King, the speaker said, was a very important function connected with the Coronation. It was the "driving home" in the mind of the King the tremendous task he was being called upon to perform and the tremendous responsibility being placed on him."

BOND OF EMPIRE

The people of the Empire, his subjects, join with him in those pledges, Mr. Church remarked. "We go with him in those pledges he so solemnly accepts and, thanks to the genius of Marconi, we in Canada will be able to listen to the ceremony and hear as plainly as those attending. Never in the history of the world will the Empire have been drawn so closely together as during those three hours of the Coronation."

The speaker told of the preparations for the ceremony in all parts of the Empire, and the cost. He estimated $500,000,000 would be expended by the people of the world on the one great spectacle. "Can you imagine anything greater? We are caught with it, and we are as a race of little children lured by the tremendous, glittering spectacle."

Mr. Church was introduced, formally, by Walter M. Walker, president of the club, who spoke of the valuable contribution made by Mr. Church to the community in which he had resided for many years, and on behalf of the club, wished him every success in his new pastorate.

ELECTORS HEAR GUY SHEPPARD

C.C.F. Candidate on Socialist Ticket Addresses Audience at Mount Tolmie

T. Guy Sheppard, C.C.F. candidate in Saanich constituency on a straight Socialist ticket, opened his platform campaign at the Mount Tolmie C.C.F. Club hall last night. He was supported by E. E. Roper, Edmonton, and A. Kellow. Charles Woolley was chairman.

Mr. Sheppard, who unsuccessfully contested one of the four Victoria seats in the last Provincial election, gave a dynamic exposition of the socialistic creed, which, he said, he would continue to preach until his "last breath." He stated he would make only one promise. "From the time you entrusted me with the responsibility of being your candidate, carry your standard, preach your creed, I pledged myself until my last breath to never give up."

WORLD BEACON

"Socialism is the only beacon light in a world of despair, and we are more interested in a bridge that will span the gulf between human suffering and human happiness than we are in building a bridge over the Fraser. We are more concerned with the road towards economic sanity than the political party roads to office," the speaker declared.

Mr. Sheppard charged that the benefits given to labor claimed by the Liberals had been fully offset by the rising costs of living.

He argued there was no foundation for the saying "the people are not ready for Socialism."

VICTORIA, Northern Spain, May 11 (P)—General Emilio Mola re-

The Bizcargi mountains are considered the last natural barrier to the valley in which Bilbao lies. Official dispatches to insurgent headquarters here said an entire Basque battalion was annihilated in a terrific battle in the mountains west of Guernica.

FOUR LIBERALS FOR VICTORIA

DIED WHILE NORTHBOUND

'Joe' Greenwood, Old-Timer,
Passed Away Aboard Ss.
Princess Louise

Joseph Greenwood, of Victoria and the Yukon River, passed away aboard the B.C. Coast Service Ss. Princess Louise Saturday while the ship was on her way north from Vancouver to Skagway.

Mr. Greenwood left Victoria last week to catch the Louise sailing from Vancouver on Wednesday, May 5, and when he left here was enjoying apparent good health. His sudden demise will come as a great shock to a wide circle of friends. During Great War years "Joe" Greenwood worked in the shipyards here, and following the close of the conflict he went north in the employ of the White Pass Company, running on the passenger ships of the company between White Horse and Dawson. This summer he was to be employed on the company's vessel between Dawson and Lower Yukon River points.

According to word received in Victoria yesterday, the body will be returned to Vancouver on the Princess Louise, due at the Mainland port on May 22. From there it will be forwarded to Victoria for burial.

Mr. Greenwood leaves his widow to mourn his loss. Mrs. Greenwood, who generally accompanied her husband north and resided at White Horse or Dawson during the summer season, did not go north this trip and was to remain in Victoria.

WOULD KEEP HEALTH BILL

N. W. Whittaker, K.C., Urges
Favorable Vote on Plan for
Health Insurance

British Columbia's credit in the financial markets of the world has been restored and social services have been greatly extended, without increased taxation, under the Liberal administration, declared Norman W. Whittaker, K.C., Liberal candidate in Saanich riding, at the opening meeting of his campaign, held in Sea Scouts Hall, Cadboro Bay, last evening.

He reviewed, quietly and forcefully, the trend of provincial affairs since the Pattullo Government took office. The finances of British Columbia, he said, were in a state of chaos when Hon. John Hart became Finance Minister. Helped by improving business conditions, Mr. Hart had rehabilitated provincial credit, obtained loans at low rates of interest, met maturing obligations to the extent of $5,000,000 and avoided further deficits in current account.

HEALTH INSURANCE

Mr. Whittaker also paid high tribute to the energy and determination of Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir, as Provincial Secretary. Social services had been given new strength and scope, notably in the Department of Health. Personally Mr. Whittaker wanted health insurance to "include everybody." He hoped the voters would give the Government a mandate to go ahead with the scheme and give it a chance to develop into a more comprehensive plan.

"If you vote 'No,' declared Mr. Whittaker, "I am afraid it will be many years before health insurance comes up again."

LABOR HAS BENEFITED

The present Minister of Labor, he said, was the most efficient and conscientious the Province had ever had. The Minimum Wage Act, alone, was a monument to Hon. G. S. Pearson's ability. Employers who had tried to make hard times an excuse for paying starvation wages had been prosecuted and compelled to reimburse their employees. Payrolls had been increased and living standards had been improved thereby.

Refunds exacted from delinquent employers to date totaled $60,172 and $15,000,000 have been added to industrial payrolls since the Pattullo Government "put teeth in the act," stated Mr. Whittaker.

JUSTIFY EXPENDITURE

Defending the expenditure of from $60,000 to $70,000 on traveling expenses of members of the administration, the speaker said that this surely was justified by results in the recognition of British Columbia's

PIPE BAND WILL MAKE TRIP SOUTH

Canadian Scottish Regiment Will Represent Victoria at Golden Gate Fiesta

In charge of Major Stuart Robertson and Pipe-Major Alec Wallace, the pipe band of the 1st Battalion, Canadian Scottish Regiment, will represent the city of Victoria at the Golden Gate Fiesta in San Francisco, May 27 to June 2, Major Robertson said yesterday.

They plan to leave Victoria on May 24. A total of $1,000 is being sought by the city to finance the trip of nineteen pipers and drummers. Already $650 has been promised. Merchants and citizens are asked to lend their support as valuable publicity will be given the city through the attendance of the band at the Fiesta.

Two million persons are expected to pour into San Francisco for the opening of the Golden Gate Bridge and every city on the Pacific Coast is taking part in the gigantic parade. Victoria's contribution will be unique in that no other pipe band will be seen there.

Accept Offer—An offer by Mrs. Gladys Tyrrell to purchase a lot on Victoria View Road from the municipality of Esquimalt for the sum of $100 was accepted by the Council Monday evening. Mrs. Tyrrell plans to build a five-roomed house on the property.

Chalet Is Open—Word has been received from G. W. Woollett, proprietor of the Cameron Lake Chalet, that the hotel is now open for the season. Fishing in Cameron Lake is said to be excellent, and some good catches are expected over the holiday.

Saatchi Fire—A fire in the B.C. Electric Railway pole yard at the corner of Burnside and Harriet Roads destroyed twenty-seven poles yesterday afternoon before being extinguished by the Saatchi fire department. The blaze started when a bonfire of wood chips and rubbish got out of control.

Drew Relief Sum—Provincial relief officials at Fernie reported yesterday that deductions of $3.85 per man restored to Fernie relief applicants who failed to complete their scheduled day's work last month were still outstanding and had not been worked for in the current month's relief. Investigation was ordered.

Reserved Judgment—In the County Court yesterday, Judge H. H. Shandley heard argument in the trial of G. E. Gilham vs. W. E. Wiggins, arising out of a claim for $14.84, held to be due to the plaintiff on a job of boiler repairs. R. F. Bainbridge appeared as counsel for the plaintiff, while the defendant conducted his own case. Judgment was reserved.

The meeting expressed appreciation of assistance given last year by the authorities, but was of the opinion that the same assistance will be inadequate this year in the situation which now exists.

Canadian Legion Holds Gala Coronation Dance

Victoria caught the spirit of Coronation celebration last evening when between 800 and 900 citizens attended the Coronation dance held by the Canadian Legion at the Crystal Garden. The legion members were excellent hosts and an energetic committee, headed by Mr. Harold L. Butterfield, had charge of the evening's proceedings. Assisting him were Messrs. G. Renton, H. R. Dawe, F. Biles, Scott, Fox, McCallum and Gill.

Mr. Jack Collins was master of ceremonies and was responsible for the entertaining programme of floor numbers put on by the pupils of Miss Florence Clough. The first number was a Coronation tap dance by Kathleen Mann and Frances Borde. This was followed by a clever specialty tango by David Webb and Dan Plater; a buck and wing dance by Robert Wormleight; ton; a Mexican Jarabe by Thelma Stratford; a Spanish dance by Frances Borde, and an adagio ballet, which was particularly bright and attractive, by Kathleen Gregson, Thelma Hawkins, Margaret Walker, Dan Plater, Charles Richards, Philip Bond, Wilson Jobson and Leslie Howard.

Mr. Boyd McGill gave a shadow-graph exhibition which delighted the onlookers; Bert White, the novelty violinist, played selections and was enthusiastically applauded. The huge crowd was spontaneous in its expression of enjoyment of the entire evening's programme, and the gay decorations, the flags, the pennant, the bright lights and the music added an air of carnival which was infectious.

Both the upper and lower ballrooms were used for dancing and a buffet supper was served in the north ballroom.

London in Whirl of a Gay Season

LONDON, May 11.—The gayest London season in memory is off to a brilliant start, with the two courts of May 5 and May 6 having given it an extra whirl. Lucky is the woman fortunate enough to be caught up in its gaiety. There has never been anything like it in this sedate old city.

Great doors are opening to Empire visitors that have been closed to the whole world for years. Society has come in from the country. Huge ballrooms have been redecorated. Country conservatories are being robbed to ornament "our place in town." For everyone of the usual London affairs there are at least two for Empire visitors.

McCLURE-ELLIS

The marriage was solemnized quietly last evening at St. John's Church, Rev. Canon Chadwick officiating, when Irene Mary, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Ellis, 435 Walton Street, became the bride of Mr. Gordon McClure, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. S. McClure, 1812 St. Ann Street. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Kathleen Ellis, and the groom's brother, Mr. Don McClure, was best man. After the service, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McClure, and the bride and groom left on the midnight boat for Vancouver on their way to Portland. They will make their home in Victoria.

Lecture Is Interesting

At a joint gathering of St. John's A.Y.P.A. and Columbia Woman's Auxiliary held in St. John's schoolroom on Monday evening, Rev. Edward Slater of the Northern Cross Mission, gave an illustrated address on the work of this mission.

The Northern Cross, a boat forty-seven feet long and with a twelve-foot beam, plies between Metlakatla and Alice Arm, visiting the various villages and settlements between these points. Mr. Slater paid tribute to Canon Rushbrook, who formed the present mission as it is today. The Church of England is practically the only denomination with churches in this section, and the missionaries from the Northern Cross hold services and church school regularly. At many of the villages there are nice church buildings, the one at Metlakatla being especially fine, with a large and earnest congregation. All along the Skeena River where the Northern Cross goes, the chief industry is salmon canning, and Mr. Slater described the speed at which this work is done.

Pictures of lighthouses visited were also shown, including Green Island, the most northerly Canadian lighthouse. All up and down the Coast the people are very anxious to have reading matter, and the Northern Cross Mission endeavors to supply all with good literature. Mrs. Delap, wife of the captain, does much visiting and work among the women and children.

Some very beautiful slides were shown of Alice Arm on Observatory Inlet, and of Hidden Inlet, where there is a large salmon cannery. The chair was taken by Rev. G. R. V. Bolster, and Miss Sill, president of the Woman's Auxiliary, thanked Mr. Slater for his interesting lecture.

Seated at the head table were Dr. Jardine, Mr. E. I. W. Jardine, Rev. W. P. Burns, Miss Robinson, of New Zealand; Mrs. W. B. Clayton, Mrs. Dawson, and Mrs. H. Graham, former residents of New Zealand; the president and executive of the W.A. Tea was poured by Mrs. P. Flett and Mrs. James Highted. Miss Dora Hurdieby, temperance secretary, gave a report, and Mrs. J. Hood read an interesting article on the "Coronation." It was decided to have a special meeting on Friday at the home of Miss Kathleen Berry, 1508 Gladstone Avenue, to make plans for the garden party which will be held early in June. Miss Gardner entertained with some recitations; and Miss Elita Hood, accompanied by Miss Edith Hood, sang several solos. V.O.N. Drama Is of Interest In Dominion

The rich drama and human interest in the work of the Victorian Order of Nurses has been transferred to the screen in a newly-completed fact-film which, through the co-operation of scores of theatre managers in the Dominion, will bring to the attention of thousands of theatre-goers the varied activities in all parts of Canada of the 300 nurses who, in blue uniforms and carrying the celebrated "little black bag," start out every morning on their errands of mercy.

Undaunted by distance or weather conditions and serving the sick in lonely fisherman's shack, north-west cabin and isolated prairie homestead, as well as in the teeming cities, the members of the Victorian Order of Nurses give their nursing care to men, women and children, irrespective of race, creed, color or financial status, the film reveals.

"LITTLE BLACK BAG"

Applly titled "The Little Black Bag," this motion picture was produced by Associated Screen Studios and presents a comprehensive record of the work which is being done from coast to coast by the order. Recounted in the narrative is how Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee year saw the founding of the organization by Lady Aberdeen and the interest which was taken in the work by Florence Nightingale. Sequences reveal how the skilled hands of the V.O.N. nurses ease pain, how prenatal care is given to expectant mothers, how better health is ensured by hygienic teaching.

At medical centres, and child clinics, they aid the work of the doctors, hold health classes and teach nutrition work and school nursing. In more remote areas, the call is answered however hard of access is the home. Wherever possible in these desolate parts, the journey is made by car, the film shows, but there are also many instances when the nurse must row herself across stormy rivers or tramp miles through the bush to reach her destination. Neither storm or night daunts the spirit of the nurse with the "little black bag," the film proves.

Yacht Club Dance Draws Large Crowd

The Royal Victoria Yacht Club opened its Summer season last night, when the first in the series of Summer dances was held at the clubhouse. All the tickets were sold and a gay throng of guests spent a jolly evening dancing to the music of a popular orchestra.

The decorations were carried out in the Coronation colors and Yacht Club flags. The supper tables were arranged with red, white and blue flowers, including narcissi, bluebells and tulips. During the evening, Commodore P. M. Ohrt proposed a toast to the King and Queen. Assisting Commodore and Mrs. Ohrt with the arrangements were Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Young, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Thacker, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Golby, Miss Mollie Unsworth, Miss Thelma Ackerman and Mr. Gordon Campbell.

Pupils' Recital Is Much Enjoyed

A delightful pianoforte recital was given by the pupils of Mrs. Doris L. Crofton, L.R.S.M., London, at her home, Ganges, on Saturday.

The first half of the programme was given by pupils appearing in recital for the first time. They acquitted themselves creditably. Marked progress was noticeable in the work of older pupils since their last concert, and their numbers showed thoughtful interpretation and fluency of execution. Mrs. Crofton thanked the guests for their interest and attention, and tea was served.

The programme was as follows: Duet, "At the Circus," Elsie and Kenrick Price; solos by Natalie Jameski, Dick Toynbee, Sylvia Crofton, Kenrick Price and Grace Mout; duet by Dorothy Mout and Mrs. Crofton; solos by Elsie Price and Dorothy Mout; duets by Sheila Halley and Mrs. Crofton, and solo by Sheila Halley.

Victoria W.I. Pays a Visit To Solarium

About thirty-five members of the Victoria Women's Institute paid a visit to the Queen Alexandra Solarium yesterday afternoon, having received an invitation to view the results of the expenditure of the receipts of the tag day sponsored recently by the Institute, and which had been earmarked for handicraft materials for the Solarium.

The visitors were greeted by Miss O'Grady and two little patients, Bernice Baker and Beth Clague, who presented the visitors with an old-fashioned bouquet. A delightful programme of national songs and an English country dance was given by the children. Mrs. Curtis Sampson, in a charming manner, described to the children the scenes of jubilation in London and pictured for her listeners the proceedings of the Coronation ceremony. Mrs. William Peden, a member of the Solarium Board, read to the children Coronation messages from the Governor-General of Canada and from the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia.

SEE HANDWORK

The visitors then inspected the cleverly arranged display of the children's handicrafts, which included a varied and beautiful collection of leather and paper work, weaving in wool, Cellophane and cane work. The little patients' delight in this work and under the direction of their teachers, Miss M. S. Taylor and Miss J. Grahame, have been doing some excellent work. Mrs. Sampson presented pictures of the King and Queen and a beautiful Coronation sampler was also presented to the Solarium by one of the little patients. Each child wore a rosette and badge, and the Solarium itself was gay with flags and red, white and blue decorations. Tea was served and the guests were Dr. Randall-Colyer, who accompanied the Institute members up-Island.

Before arriving at the Solarium, the party visited Fairbridge Farm School and also had luncheon at the Alderley Tea Rooms at Duncan.

Fighting Philip, whose friends hoped he would one day be a world-beater, was having a rough time of it. As he staggered to his corner after a punishing fourth round, and sank wearily into the chair, his chief second whispered anxiously into his best ear: "You're not following my advice! I told you to keep your eye on his right fist!" "Fighting Philip groaned up at him. "Dry up! Why, it's taking me all my time to keep my eye off his right fist!"

1887 GOLDEN JUBILEE YEAR 1937

Queen Victoria

In that year, 1887, the Manufacturers Life Insurance Company was incorporated by an Act of the Parliament of Canada. Its first President was Sir John A. Macdonald, the Father of Canadian Confederation and first Prime Minister of the Dominion. Its first directors included many men prominent in the business and public life of the country.

The fifty years which have elapsed since then have witnessed astounding advances in all lines of human endeavor. The Manufacturers Life Insurance Company has kept pace with the times and 1937, its Golden Jubilee Year, finds it occupying a prominent position among the great Life Insurance companies of the world.

Sir John A. Macdonald

In 1887, the British Empire celebrated the Golden Jubilee of the reign of Queen Victoria—Grover Cleveland was serving his first term as President of the United States—and Sir John A. Macdonald was again Prime Minister of the Dominion of Canada. Motion pictures, radio, aviation, and the major developments in transportation and electricity were yet to come.

Famous Comedy Star Seen in

Your Birthday?"

The picturesque color of the Midway Plaisance at a great amusement resort is seen as the background for many sequences of "When's Your Birthday?" starring Joe E. Brown at the Atlas Theatre today.

The laugh-provoking Brown is seen as an astrologer in a concession, and as the Swami Pooja he creates such a sensation with his predictions that he is finally installed in a swanky studio on Park Avenue, only to have his past record as a part-time prize fighter rise up and hit him on the chin.

The comedian's supporting cast includes Marian Marsh, Fred Keating, Maude Eburne, Minor Watson, Suzanne Kaaren and Edgar Kennedy.

LANDED UPON LITTLE LAKE

Pilot Stull Praised by Fellow
Airmen for Skillful Plane
Handling

THE PAS, Man., May 11 (C)—Airmen counted another victory over the Canadian Northland today as they praised Pilot E. W. Stull, Winnipeg, for his skillful landing of his plane with one ski damaged, on ice of Moosonee Lake 200 miles south of Churchill on the Hudson's Bay Railroad.

The ski was shattered yesterday afternoon as Stull took off from Churchill with four passengers, bound for The Pas in northwest Manitoba.

Wings Limited, owners of the plane and employers of its five occupants, rushed a doctor from The Pas eighteen miles north to Clear Lake, where the plane was due to land. Stull, however, decided to make an early landing with the advantage of full daylight.

PASSENGERS UNINJURED

He set the plane down safely on the little lake near Ilford. At Mile 286 on the Hudson Bay Railroad, passengers were uninjured. Stull arranged for their transportation to The Pas by rail, but will continue the flight himself when the damaged ski is repaired.

Stull had been directing transportation of eight men and some twenty-five tons of mining equipment and supplies from Churchill to Cankin Inlet, 300 miles north of the Hudson Bay Post. He was returning to The Pas with Paul Don, chief radio engineer of Wings Limited, Fred Darnell, Ralph Perrin, all of Winnipeg, and Douglas Cameron, Kenora, Ont.

Veteran aviators say planes have been landed with damaged undercarriage skis or pontoons, a number of times in the Canadian Northland and to their knowledge all such landings have been made without injury to pilots or passengers.

What Today Means

"TAURUS"
If May 12 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 to 11 a.m., from 1 to 3 p.m., and from 7 to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from 7 to 9 a.m., from 5 to 7 p.m., and from 9 to 11 p.m.

You can be of good cheer because this ought to be one of your lucky days. There should be some pleasant surprise in store for you, and many gratifying manifestations of friendship. Be in a receptive mood for suggestions of a social nature, for they might be the medium through which a great deal of pleasure will come to you. There is apt to be a great change for the better in your personal affairs. You may be on the verge of entering a period of exceptional freedom from worries. To whatever tests your courage is put is preparatory to some very fortunate change in your life. Be careful of strangers with highly speculative ventures, but do not be too conservative in legitimate business matters. Married and engaged couples, as well as those with matrimonial ambitions, will do well to avoid offering unkind criticism this day, for it hardly will be received graciously.

If a woman and May 12 is your natal day, you are probably a quick thinker and a good conversationalist. You ought to take an active interest in church, social welfare and political affairs, for through them your ability might become recognized. You perhaps will succeed best in some literary, artistic, educational or musical pursuit. You can view your matrimonial prospects optimistically, because only good seems to surround them.

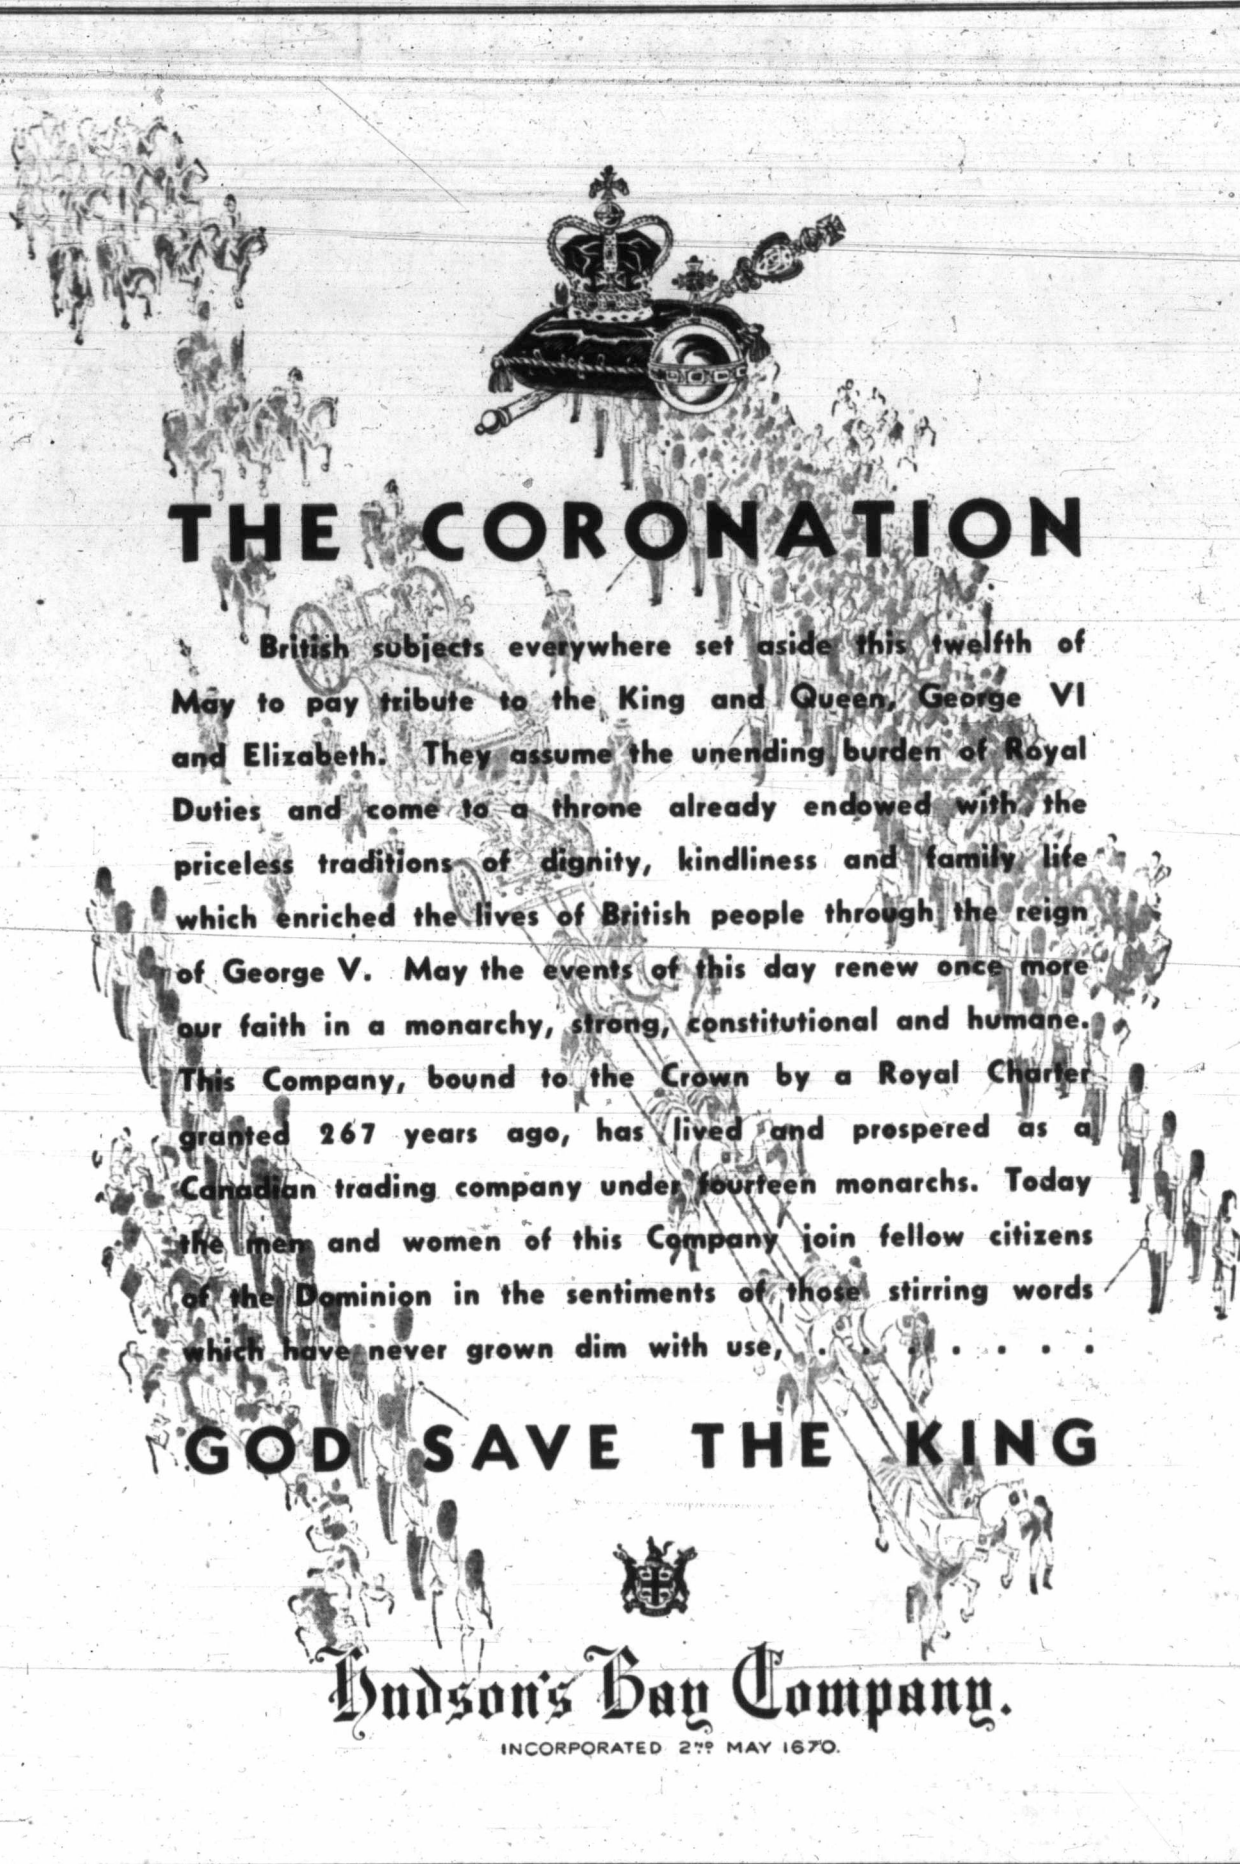

The child born on May 12 can expect to be very successful. Auspicious circumstances seem to prevail for those whose birthday is on this day. In its late teens Lady Luck probably will make it one of her proteges.

If a man and May 12 is your birth anniversary, the future seems to have much worth while to offer you. Your efforts made in the right direction are likely to be well rewarded. As a geologist, journalist, author, artist, actor, doctor, clergyman or salesman, you are apt to be successful, if you refuse to be discouraged.

A varied and interesting programme was held following the monthly meeting of the Victoria Welsh Society in the A.O.P. Hall, D. Evans presided.

Those who took part in the entertainment were: Solo, W. Lands, M. Humiston, Maurice Thomas, Miss Dawson and Mrs. W. G. Williams; guitar and cowboy songs, Reginald Stoffer, Jr.; recitations, Robert Thomas; Scotch dances, Betty Campbell and Marnie McAllister. An interesting talk on "Education" was given by W. P. Jeanne. Refreshments were served by Mr. W. Jeanne and Mrs. M. A. Lewis.

STRAITFORD, Ont., May 11 (C)—Seventeen cars of a London-Stratford-Canadian National Railway freight train were derailed near here today in an accident causing several thousand dollars damage. No one was reported hurt.

THE CORONATION

British subjects everywhere set aside this twelfth of May to pay tribute to the King and Queen, George VI and Elizabeth. They assume the unending burden of Royal Duties and come to a throne already endowed with the priceless traditions of dignity, kindness and family life which enriched the lives of British people through the reign of George V. May the events of this day renew once more our faith in a monarchy, strong, constitutional and humane.

This Company, bound to the Crown by a Royal Charter granted 267 years ago, has lived and prospered as a Canadian trading company under fourteen monarchs. CHAPTER XLVIII

Lucille was turning into the walk before the squeak of the gate told Ronny and Sandra she was near. Unhurried, they stood apart, the porch post between them. There was nothing furtive in the movement because, for very different reasons, they had no sense of guilt. Sandra thought, "Lucille will be pleased. She likes us both and she must have guessed it was coming before long." And Ronny, watching the slim figure wrapped in shadow coming toward the porch, told himself, "May as well get it over with now as later."

Lucille peered up from the foot of the steps. "That you, Sandra? Why aren't you in bed?"

"This is a very special night, dear," Sandra told her, softly. "I knew you wouldn't mind—"

"But I do mind," Lucille's voice was pleasant but firmly reproachful. There aren't any very special nights for you, Sandra. Not until you're completely well."

Ronny said, "One night can't make a great deal of difference, Lucille."

For perhaps ten seconds there was no movement, no sound. Then Lucille said, "I see. You're agreed it's a very special night. Well, of course." She had started toward the door, but Sandra was suddenly in front of her.

"You don't understand, Lucille, Ronny—" But that seemed a clumsy way to tell her, and she was trying to begin again when Lucille said, "I want you to look your best when your mother and father come."

And then—she supposed she should have realized it sooner, she said—she found Tom Burton was in love with her. And Tom told her he planned to leave Maple Village, make a fresh start—and he wanted her to marry him and go with him.

"I'd brought it on myself, of course. I wanted to help him. But I couldn't tell him that. It would have let him down terribly, because, you see, Tom thought I was in love with him, too."

Ronny could understand that. He said, "Yes, of course."

"I didn't love him," Lucille said, simply, and suddenly brought her head around. "I've never loved anyone but you, Ronny. I think you know that." She waited for a moment, but Ronny didn't say anything. "I had always thought you would come back sometime and we would be married, the way you used to say we would. . . . But I hadn't heard from you in years and years and—I think I wanted my life to count for something. I mean, I wanted to feel that I'd done at least one decent service, and the more I thought of what it would do to Tom if I told him the truth, the surer I was that I couldn't do it."

So after putting him off for months, she had told Tom Burton she would marry him. And then, without a word, Tom had vanished and for months she had heard nothing from him.

Then you came home, Ronny—and the evening before you were to leave, Tom arrived. . . . I made up my mind the minute I saw him I'd tell him at once I couldn't marry him. But he didn't give me a chance. He was bubbling over with his good news. He had been working for a trucking concern in Boston. He hadn't taken a single drink the whole year. He had saved a little money. He knew of a cozy little apartment . . . Her voice faded into silence. "What could I do, Ronny? I couldn't marry him and I didn't want to hurt him. I thought if I could get him to wait a few months he might find some girl in Boston he liked, something . . . She spread her hands, gently. "I don't know what I said, but—he went away. I thought, hoped anyway, that would be the end of it." She avoided his eyes. "When I went home tonight, he was sitting in his car in front of the house."

AS in other parts of the great British Empire, where millions of loyal subjects will pay homage to a new ruler, Victoria, the Capital City of British Columbia, and Canada's most westerly city, and Oak Bay, will join in celebration of the crowning of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth today.

With buildings gay with colored bunting and streamers, flags flying, the firing of minute guns, strains of martial music and numerous festivities and public functions, today will be one to be long remembered by citizens. Today marks the beginning of the reign of a new sovereign, well loved by all his subjects, and the crowning of his Queen, Elizabeth, and wherever the sun shines there will be celebrations. Victoria will do its part in the ceremonies, co-incident with the official crowning in London.

MILITARY PARADES

The ceremonies will begin in the morning, when men from the Royal Canadian Naval Barracks, Royal Canadian Artillery, P.P.C.I.; Canadian Scottish Regiment, Girl Guides, I.O.D.E. war veterans, Boy Scouts and Rainbow Sea Cadets will parade in Parliament Square. On the arrival of Hon. Aulay Morrison, Administrator of British Columbia, bands will play the National Anthem, which will be followed by an Empire broadcast by King George. After the singing of "O Canada," the Arion Club will give several numbers and there will be a Royal Salute and feu de joie. This ceremony will be ended with march past of troops. The saluting base will be opposite the Empress Hotel.

In the afternoon, the pipe band of the 1st Battalion, 16th Canadian Scottish Regiment, will parade through the city, and the evening will be devoted to free dances at the Crystal Garden and Chamber of Commerce Auditorium. The Klansmen's Coronation Ball, at the Empress Hotel, will also be held in the evening and a special display of fireworks will be given from a point in the Inner Harbor.

King's Message Will Highlight Broadcasts Of Coronation Rites

New Sovereign Will Address Subjects All Over the World at 11 o'Clock This Morning—Many Interesting Features in Lengthy Programme

IN his first speech after his coronation today King George VI will be heard by millions of people all over the world from Buckingham Palace, through the magic of radio, as the highlight of the colorful and dramatic ceremonies connected with the Coronation broadcast. He will speak at 11 o'clock.

The King's address will be borne around the world through the facilities of the British Broadcasting Corporation, the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting system.

Elaborate plans have been worked out by the major broadcasting companies, insuring the success of this history-making broadcast. Special announcers, technicians, observers, engineers and commentators will play an important role in bringing a vivid word picture of the Coronation into the average home.

REBROADCAST OF MESSAGE. At 11:30 this morning the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation will carry a rebroadcast of His Majesty's address.

"Homage of the Empire," at 10:19, will take the radio listener on a tour of the British Empire. Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King, J. A. Lyons, Prime Minister of Australia; M. J. Savage, Prime Minister of New Zealand, and General Hertzog, Prime Minister of South Africa, will speak from London. The roll of members of the Colonial Empire will be called, and from Bermuda a message will be broadcast by Lieut. General Sir Reginald Hildyard, Governor of the colony. The Viceroy of India will broadcast from his Dominion. Southern Rhodesia will be represented by its Prime Minister, Dr. G. M. Huggins, and Newfoundland by a member of its Commission of Government, W. R. Howley, both speaking from London.

In addition to these official greetings, representative citizens will be heard from Canada, New Zealand, Australia and South Africa, as well as spokesmen for the King's people in England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland.

PREMIER PATULLO. Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Premier of British Columbia, will be heard officially welcoming the destroyer H.M.C.S. Fraser, first Canadian cruiser to British Columbia waters on Coronation Day. He will talk from New Westminster at 9 o'clock. Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, will deliver a message at 10:10 o'clock.

Of special local interest will be the comment by Bruce Hutchison, Victoria newspaperman and writer, from the scene of the Coronation. He will speak for fifteen minutes, beginning at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon.

RADIO PARTY. From the stage of Radio City Music Hall, New York, the broadcast of the "British Radio Party" will originate under the direction

These resolutions recognized their mutual relation as "autonomous communities within the British Empire, equal in status, in no way subordinate one to another in any aspect of their domestic or external affairs, though united by a common allegiance to the Crown, and freely associated as members of the British Commonwealth of Nations."

But, in one particular, the Statute of Westminster went further than the resolutions of 1926. In an effort to safeguard the Crown as "the symbol of the free association of the members of the British Commonwealth of Nations," the preamble of the Statute of Westminster lays down that "any alteration in the law touching the succession to the Throne or the Royal Style and Titles shall hereafter require the assent of the Parliaments of all the Dominions as well as of the Parliament of the United Kingdom."

It was under this provision that the Dominions played so important a role in the abdication of Edward VIII, a role which no one foresaw when the Statute of Westminster came before the British Parliament for approval.

SCOUTS' GOOD DEED. LONDON 9.—British Boy Scouts' "good deed" Coronation Day will be selling programmes throughout the Kingdom, proceeds to go to King George's Jubilee Trust Fund.

CARS BURNING UP. VANCOUVER, May 11 9.—The epidemic of fires which damaged three automobiles over the weekend continued last night when the fire department rushed to extinguish three more blazes in vehicles.

POET LAUREATE. The official Coronation broadcast will terminate when John Masefield, Poet Laureate, reads his "Prayer for the King's Reign" against the tolling of the bells of Big Ben. This specially-dedicated poem will be heard at 2:45 p.m.

Lowell Thomas, N.B.C. commentator, will summarize the Coronation proceedings and activity from London over the blue network of the N.B.C. at 2:45 o'clock. There will be a rebroadcast of the feature, "Homage of the Empire," at 6 o'clock over the C.B.C.

NEW STATUTE ALTERS OATH. Dominions Enter Into New Relationship With the Crown Under Statute

New relations between Crown and Dominions have come into being for this Coronation: The Statute of Westminster, the abdication of Edward VIII, the new Coronation oath are milestones along an unexplored highway. And experts in constitutional law are frankly baffled by unexpected turns in events.

The changed wording of the oath to be taken by George VI today is tangible evidence of the new status of the Dominions and their altered relations with the Crown since the coronation of George V in 1911.

The Statute of Westminster passed in 1931 gave legislative effect to resolutions on the status of Great Britain and the Dominions passed by the Imperial Conference of 1926.

CEREMONIES HALTED FOR KIND ACTION

Sovereign Shows Gentle Courtesy to Aged Prelate During Coronation

Strange and even cruel happenings associated with past Coronations are scattered so frequently in the roll of English history that the Coronation of Edward VII in 1902 stands out by reason of a very kindly incident.

The aged Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Frederick Temple, father of the present Archbishop of York, knelt to do homage to the Sovereign, but was unable to rise again to his feet. Edward thereupon left the Chair for a moment and gently assisted the stricken prelate to his feet. "God bless you, sir, God bless you," murmured the archbishop. It was on account of Dr. Temple's infirmities that the Archbishop of York, then Dr. MacLagan, crowned Queen Alexandra.

Edward and his Queen, Alexandra, were beloved, Edward having achieved a warm place in the affections of England through his diligent services as Prince of Wales during the latter years of the reign of Victoria. It was the special distinction of Edward to have been a substantial support of the Throne before he was called upon to occupy it. He was exemplary in the discharge of his public duties and in his scrupulous detachment from party politics.

His Coronation was postponed by the long drawn-out war in South Africa. Fixed first for June 26, 1902, another postponement was necessary, the King suffering from peritphitis, which necessitated an operation.

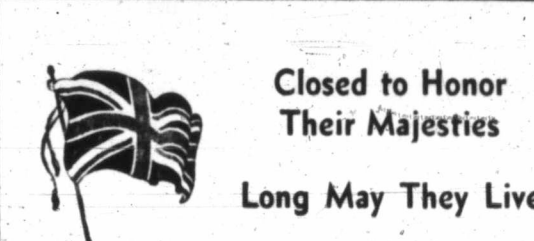

The King's recovery was rapid and the Coronation took place August 9. Though shorn of much magnificence which would have been added to it three months before by the presence of foreign royalties, the ceremony was performed in Westminster Abbey amid great rejoicings.

NORTH SHORE MEETS LOCAL SQUAD TODAY

Leading Mainland Soccer Team Plays Victoria United This Afternoon

Bent on keeping their inter-city record clean of defeats, Ed Whyte's Victoria United eleven will be out at full strength this afternoon to battle North Shore United, leaders of the Mainland Inter-City Football League, at the Royal Athletic Park in an exhibition holiday match. Referee Dave Swan will swing the teams into action at 2:45.

So far this season the locals have scored victories over St. Saviours, New Westminster Royals, holders of the Canadian championship, and Nanaimo City, and are confident of turning back the North Shore lads. The visiting team suffered a narrow 2-1 defeat at the hands of Nanaimo in their last Mainland engagement in a cup tie. North Shore are expected to line-up as follows: Rabbit, goal; MacGill and Harrison, fullbacks; Wardlaw, Kozolun and McSwen, halfbacks; Young, Robinson, McManus, Spencer and Christie as forwards. Two substitutes are also expected to be ready for duty if changes are necessary.

"Scotty" Robinson will be at right wing with Cliff Robbins on the inside lane and the veteran John Watt at the pivot position. Noel Morgan and George Payne will form the left wing combination. Sammy Essler, Ernie Lorandini, Peter Thom and Wally Rowe are the substitutes.

Melodist, an outsider, defeated a crack field, including the highly favored Kentucky Derby entry Pompoon, who straggled home in fifth position. This victory gave Melodist a starting berth in the historic Derby. In the above layout, Melodist is seen after the race; while the bit of racing action, also seen, is the finish of the sensational race which upset the dopsters. WINNIPEG FIGHTER RECEIVES TERRIFIC LACING IN SEATTLE

Canadian Challenger for Middleweight Championship Rocked to Sleep Midway Through Third Session—Goes Down for Nine Count in First Round—Capacity Crowd Present

SEATTLE, May 11 (AP).—Middleweight Champion Freddie Steele, of Tacoma, "showed his critics" here tonight by knocking out Frank Battaglia, of Winnipeg, the challenger, in the third round of a scheduled fifteen-round title fight in the Civic Auditorium.

Steele weighed 156; Battaglia, 159.
After scoring knockdowns in the first and second rounds, Steele floored Battaglia for the full count of ten in thirty-four seconds of the third round. A crushing left, following a two-fisted barrage, sent Frank flat on his face on the canvas. His handlers dragged him to his corner.

Before the fight, Steele, irked by comments of Eastern sports writers that he did not look like a champion, said he intended to "show them" he was a champion at Battaglia's expense.

A crowd which almost filled the auditorium with a capacity of 9,000, saw the fight.

GOES DOWN EARLY
Battaglia landed on the floor for the first time thirty-one seconds after the battle started. It was Steele's first blow, a left to the jaw. That put him down for a nine-count. A brisk right and left attack.

BIG GUARANTEE
Steele was guaranteed $17,500 for the Battaglia bout, with an option of 50 per cent of the gate. Battaglia was given 15 per cent of the gate.
Phil Furr, 146½, Washington, D.C., won an eight-round decision over Tiger Al Lewis, 148, Seattle negro, in the special event preceding the Steele-Battaglia fight.

Wes Hayes, 175, Portland, Ore., and Al Wilson, 171, Spokane, Wash., battled four rounds to a draw in the second preliminary.
Morrie Shabnuk, 152, Seattle, won a decision over Bobby Carrington, 150, Calgary, Alta., in four rounds.

Open to all pitchers, a Coronation Day handicap singles tournament for "A" and "B" class players will be staged this afternoon by the Greater Victoria Horsehoe Pitching Association, at their club grounds, Blanshard Street and Pandora Avenue.

Two handsome trophies have been donated for the meet, in addition to two prizes for each section. The cups will be played for annually and will be held by the winners for twelve months. The competition is free and post entries will be received up to 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Contestants will be handicapped according to their performances of last season.

Battles Tim Keist Tomorrow Night

AL FORD, colored boxer and claimant of the Canadian lightweight title, who meets Tim Keist, Victoria welterweight, in the ten-round main event of tomorrow night's boxing card at the Empire Theatre. Ford will wind up his training at Vancouver today and will be in the pink of condition for his return mix with the local boy.

Danny Murray, Vancouver, and Ed Jones, Edmonton, meet in the six-round semi-wind-up. Eddie Wise, Montreal, and Bob Wilson, Up-Island boy, will swap punches in one of the four-rounders, while another preliminary will bring together Willie Jones, Vancouver, and Bob Keist, Victoria.

Gordon Smith, former British Columbia amateur heavyweight champion, and George Pidgeon, Duncan, will battle in the curtain-raiser at 8:30 o'clock.

Golf Club Title From
Brother, 4 and 3

Norm Wallace captured the Macaulay Point Golf Club championship once again at the Esquimalt links when he defeated his elder brother, Ian, in the scheduled thirty-six-hole final, 4 and 3. H. Thompson won the first round of the twenty-first annual G. M. Lindsay and Bill McDiarmid beat E. Shadlow in the second round, 3 and 1. A. McGowan took a 4 and 3 decision from G. A. Bruce in the third round, and H. S. Morgan nosed out H. Clark in the fourth round, one up.

The match became all square at the three-quarter mark, the twenty-seventh hole, after Ian had missed easy putts on successive greens. Norm took the lead at the twenty-eighth with a birdie three and then increased it on the next green with another three. The thirtieth hole was halved in fours and the next halved in pars. The champion went on the match on the next green three up at the thirty-second and with a birdie three, N. MORRISEY TO MEET CLARKE

Former "Shadow" Booked To Oppose Young Bostonian in Mat Headliner

Donald Clarke, young Bostonian, whose historic has made him popular with grappling fans all up and down the Pacific Coast, was yesterday given the top spot of Saturday's mat show at the Tillamook gymnasium.

The likeable youngster made his debut in the special event, moved to the semi-wind-up and after scoring well in each case, was finally shifted to the top bout. He will be tossed in against James Casey Morrissey, Memphis grappler, who once wrestled in the red flannel underwear and hood of the "Red Shadow."

Morrissey graduated from Columbia University and gave up a law career for the pachydermic pastime. After winning a number of matches in his first year in the professional mat game the "Shadow," then just plain James Casey Morrissey, entered a tournament at Philadelphia. He scored nine successive victories, and then had the misfortune to lose to Dean Detton, present kingpin, in the final.

MORGAN COMING

Big Ben Morgan, bearded blacksmith, who gave up bending iron for bending bones, will show in the semi-wind-up. Confirmation to this effect was received yesterday by Promoter Fred Richardson. Weighing 350 pounds in his wrestling trunk, Morgan is a second edition of Man Mountain Dean. He makes his Canadian debut tomorrow evening at Vancouver and will probably show at Seattle Friday before coming here for Saturday's card.

GRADS DEFEAT WICHITA, 53-18

Edmonton Girls Too Strong
For U.S. Challengers in Trophy Opener

EDMONTON, May 11 (P).—Edmonton Grads smothered Wichita Thurston, 53-18, here tonight in the first game of a best-of-five series for the Underwood Challenge Women's Basketball Trophy.

The Canadian girls, holders of the cup since 1923, took a commanding 11-3 lead in the first quarter and were never threatened during the remainder of the game. The invaders failed to score nine points in the second, but Grads replied with twelve to lead, 23-12, at half-time.

Thurston slumped in the third, scoring only one point, while Edmonton chalked up fourteen to lead, 37-13. Grads, international champions, continued their onslaught in the final session to hoop sixteen against Wichita's five, coming within one point of tripling the score.

LEAD SCORERS

"Babe" Belanger, midget forward, and Mabel Munton, dynamic guard, led Grads scorers with eleven points each, while Captain Corine Jaax Smith, all-American for the last seven years, topped Wichita marksmen with six, on two baskets and two free throws.

HUMBER WILL FACE LEE ORR

Victoria Sprinter Meets Former Olympic Teammate
In College Sports

PULLMAN, Wash., May 11 (P).—Two men who were teammates on the Canadian Olympic team at Berlin last summer will race against each other here next Saturday when the University of Washington and Washington State College meet in the Northwest's track and field classic.

Bruce Humber, of Victoria, will carry Washington's hopes in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes. Lee Orr, of Vancouver, will be the Cougars' main speedster in the short sprints. It will be their first meeting in intercollegiate competition. Orr is a sophomore and Humber a veteran varsity man.

At Berlin, Orr placed fifth in the finals of the 200-meter dash, and equaled the Olympic record in a qualifying heat, before Jesse Owens raised havoc with it. Both Orr and Humber ran on the relay team which placed fifth. In their team tryouts, Humber won the 100-yard and Orr the 220-yard events.

Cowich Karl Schladehman field Orr out of the meet with the University of Oregon here last Saturday. He was nursing a slight groin strain suffered in high jumping. He will be in top shape this week, Schladehman said.

CONCERTS TO BE REPEATED

Sunday Services Will Be Held on Show Boat During Summer Months

Arrangements for again holding a series of Sunday evening concerts at the Show Boat, following church hours, were made at a meeting of representatives of the Ministerial Association and David Leeming in the Show Boat offices.

Concerts will commence at a date to be advertised, and continue through the summer months. They will begin at 9 o'clock in the evening, and this year the church service in connection with them will not be longer than forty-five minutes' duration. For the first fifteen minutes community hymn singing will be led by Harry S. Hay. A soloist, duet, trio or quartette will sing the verses, with the crowd joining in the choruses.

There will be no charge for seats, though a collection will be made. Remarks from the Show Boat will be broadcast by means of a loud-speaker system.

Mr. Hay was placed in charge of the singing and financial arrangements.

A special committee composed of Rev. Dr. A. S. Inrie, Dean C. S. Quainton, Rev. E. F. Church, Rev. G. A. Reynolds, Rev. T. H. McAllister and Rev. Dr. Andrew Reid will manage the season's meetings.

Upon their conclusion the trust fund, in charge of E. W. McMullen, honorary treasurer, will be disbursed to selected local charities.

KING GIVES HIS PLEDGE

"The solemn form and character of Your Majesty's Coronation, comprehending both old and new, will, we believe, afford a more vivid sense of the meaning of the value of the Crown.

"Through this stormy, baffling era in human affairs, the throne has remained broadly based upon the people's will." Prime Minister King continued. "The Crown, symbolizing the unity and free association of the nations of the British Commonwealth, continues to embody principles of government which are most sacred, and their common attachment to the ideals of freedom and peace."

PERSONAL AFFECTION

Prime Minister Lyons of Australia said: "Australian loyalty to the throne is traditional, but in the case of Your Majesty and Your Gracious Queen, it goes deeper. It is a personal affection and loyalty that springs from the heart.

"In Australia we regard you not only as sovereigns, but as personal friends. Australia will never forget the inspiring example and unparalleled services to the Empire of your greatly beloved father."

Other Premiers echoed similar sentiments as did representatives of the Indian princes and British India and the colonies.

PREAKNESS IS SET SATURDAY

War Admiral and Pompoon
Will Run in $50,000 Race
At Pimlico Track

BALTIMORE, May 11 (P).—The handiest of Pompoon, J. H. Louchheim's big, rangy colt, preparing today for the forty-seventh renewal of the Preakness Saturday at Pimlico were confident the bay son of Pompey, given an equal share of luck, will turn the tables on Samuel D. Riddle's War Admiral, his Kentucky Derby conqueror.

If Pompoon does this, he may have set a time record in Pimlico's $50,000 added race classic. War Admiral's time in the Derby Saturday was the second fastest in the history of that race and observers believe that, if necessary, he may show even more speed in the Preakness.

FINISHED STRONG

John Clarke, brother of Trainer Cyrus (Happy Dan) Clarke, said of Pompoon:

"They claimed he could not go the route. He proved he could by finishing next to the winner and eighth lengths in front of the third horse in the Derby.

"War Admiral got away a jump ahead of Pompoon and had the inside track all the way. Yet Pompoon came up and closed ground in the stretch.

"He's a swift-striding fellow and a great racer. You watch him Saturday."

SOME HORSEMEN, HOWEVER, REGARDED WAR ADMIRAL AS PRACTICALLY UNBEATABLE.

Millions Thronging Empire's Metropolis Acclaim Their King

Preceded by motorcycle police, a chain of royal limousines rolled slowly along the sanded roadway. In the cars were members of the Royal Family and the crown princes and other representatives of the nations of the world.

Prince and Princess Chichibu of Japan were easily spotted, as was the sixteen-year-old Crown Prince Michael of Rumania.

The first of the mounted cavalries followed.

Riding in an open state carriage came Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, frock-coated, top-hatted, escorted by mounted policemen.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada followed, his escort of red-coated Royal Canadian Mounted Policemen on their splendid horses, brought across the Atlantic for the occasion, creating a stir among the crowd.

DOMINION PRIME MINISTERS
Nine other carriages followed with the other Dominion Prime Ministers and Indian Empire representatives, each escorted by colorfully-garbed police or cavalry from his respective country.

Unnoticed by most of the crowds outside, the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose peeped excitedly at the scene from Buckingham Palace windows, while awaiting their turn to leave for the abbey.

Their mother and father, the King and Queen, were up long before the little Princesses and breakfasted in the Chinese room before donning robes of state.

Outside the palace, ambulances made what speed they could through the congested areas, bearing to hospitals dozens of spectators who had fainted after their all-night vigil.

AT VANTAGE POINTS
Lamp posts were the most popular vantage points last night for those lining the route, intending to stick there until after the procession passed.

Among the early arrivals was a Miss Atkins, of Acton, who said she did the same when George V was crowned in 1911.

Under the stands outside Westminster Hospital, opposite the abbey, stood Václav Bucha, twenty-five-year-old assistant Scoutmaster from Czechoslovakia, who said he had traveled across Europe to see the Coronation.

London was gay. Improvement of the weather—swelled—already—huge crowds on the streets. Thousands upon thousands poured into the West End by trains, tubes, trams and coaches. Hilarious throngs shouted and sang everywhere.

The King and Queen dined quietly, alone, at the palace and retired early in preparation for their arduous day.

AT ST. JAMES'
The Duke of Gloucester, first male in the line of succession, gave a dinner party at St. James' Palace, attended by most members of the Royal Family except the King and Queen, Queen Mary and the Duke of Connaught. All visiting royalties were invited with many prominent men of the Empire.

By 9:30 p.m. the entire length of The Mall was lined with people sitting on campstools or the curbs. Around Buckingham Palace crowds shouted: "We want our King." In Whitehall around Westminster, Piccadilly Circus, the Marble Arch and all other points of the route, except the Embankment, which is reserved for children, similar early arrivals took up their positions.

And through the swirling crowds traffic crawled at a bare mile an hour, with traffic lights useless against the crush of vehicles. There was still no bus service, but other transport continued as usual, though heavily loaded.

QUIET IN ABBEY
The grey stone abbey itself was quiet, a hall of memories and a symbol of the link between church and crown. Lights shone on splendid blue carpets, on gold and blue brocade, on gold curtains and hangings, all new.

They were reflected in dancing stabs of light from diamonds and rubies and emeralds encrusted in the Royal crowns, the swords of state, in stately diadems.

The youthful earl marshal, the Duke of Norfolk, made a last-minute inspection of Westminster Abbey last night and declared all was in readiness. He personally inspected the lighting system of the huge building.

And underneath the city, trains ran all night long for the first time in history, bringing tens of thousands of people from the suburban areas—men, women and children hoping for a brief glimpse of the display.

Two hundred excursion trains from all parts of Britain brought last-minute visitors, and railway stations were whirled of traffic and baggage.

Sixty surgeons, 500 ambulance officers, 5,000 non-commissioned officers, 165 nurses and 1,400 sisters of the church were on first aid duty.

PLenty OF FOOD
Trucks carrying special "food flags" entered otherwise restricted areas on schedule early as arrangements worked like clockwork to provide food for the hundreds of thousands jamming the Coronation route.

Open-air restaurants and buffets were strategically located in the parks and on street corners. Scotland Yard agents made final inspection of the Abbey's dark recesses last night, looking for possible cranks or gate-crashers. Crown regalia and jewels worth $30,000,000 were in the Jerusalem Chamber of the Abbey where Yeomen stood guard through the night.

The Jews were carried there in a State coach yesterday in a procession that gave the throngs along the route a touch of today's panoply.

It was the thirty-sixth Coronation in 871 years of the Abbey's history and marked officially the start of the thirty-ninth reign since William the Conqueror's in 1066.

smoother trophies will be presented by the president of the City Billiard Association, A. Patton and H. R. Daw, president of the Naval Veterans' Club.

ACADEMY GIRLS IN FIELD DAY

More Than 200 St. Ann's School Girls Participate in Coronation Celebration

The sunny walled-in grounds of St. Ann's Academy held a happy throng of more than 200 schoolgirls yesterday afternoon on the occasion of the field day organized in celebration of the Coronation. For two hours the quadrangle echoed to the mingled shrieks of excitement of the contestants and the applause of the spectators as the diverting programme of games, races and "stunts" progressed.

In charge of L. G. Basanta, director of physical education at St. Ann's, the events were devised to bring all the girls of the school together in good-natured and spontaneous play and competition. Those for the children from the primary school emphasized the element of amusement, and the more strenuous contests were limited to girls over fourteen, with tennis singles and doubles matches as a climax to the day's programme.

The order of the events was as follows: Sask races for the juniors, girls and boys; slow bicycle race, in three heats; relay races; candle-lighting race in which contestants, to win a prize, had to bring their candle, still alight, to the tape; boot-and-shoe races, where adversaries threw their competitors' shoes as far as from the owners as possible; a boys' wheelbarrow race, which resulted in many amusing spills; a hurdle race, and a thread-and-needle race, which had to be repeated several times before any of the competitors arrived at the tape with any thread in the needle.

The major excitement was provided by the senior girls' 100-yard dash, won by Victoria Bourke, and the 50-yard sprint, for girls under fourteen, won by Edna Gale. Among the spectators were the Reverend Mother Provincial, the Mother Superior, Rev. Father Gaudette, chaplain, and the directress of games, Sister Mary Noreen, and a number of the parents and other friends of the girls.

VANCOUVER, May 11.—Vancouver Harbor will be treated to a spectacular marine display tonight and tomorrow night when the Pacific's largest liner, the Empress of Japan, will appear floodlighted for the first time as a Coronation gesture. Like other ships of the Canadian Pacific deep-sea and coastal fleets, the 25,000-ton speed queen will don all her flags, going into full dress for the occasion.

At night, however, the white giants will be a thing of beauty as high-candlepower lamps sweep her trio of huge buff-colored funnels and play on the gleaming white and brasswork of her upper decks. Her neighbor at C.P.R. Pier "B," the Canadian-Australasian liner Aorangi, in from the Antipodes Sunday and due to sail at 10 a.m. tomorrow, also will be covered in a haze of floodlight glory tonight and will sail in full dress for her homeward trip.

Something of what the Coronation means to decorators, in terms of cost of material and labor, was conveyed here today by S. V. T. Jeffery, purchasing agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Mr. Jeffery disclosed that stations, wharves and offices of his company in Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster, Kamloops, Penticton, Revelstoke, Nelson and Cranbrook have been decorated with 420,000 square feet of red, white and blue bunting; flags to an area of 233,308 feet, and shields to an area of 3,500 square feet. These figures do not include Hotel Vancouver, here, or the Empress Hotel, in Victoria, which attended to their own elaborate decoration, or the deep-sea or coastwise ships which will hoist flags from their own signal lockers.

Restlessness of Maritime Unions May Indicate Further Labor Trouble

Rank and file seamen of the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts have withdrawn from the International Seamen's Union and intend forming a national maritime union, with every indication that at least two of the West Coast unlicensed personnel unions will follow suit, it is reported from New York.

This climaxes a long and bitter fight between the rank and file groups of the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts led by Joe Curran, and the "Old Guard" of the A.P. of L. International Seamen's Union.

Although no official statements were forthcoming from local unions of San Francisco, "Shipping Register," published in that city, states it was unofficially stated that two West Coast unions, marine firemen and marine cooks and stewards, have gone on record to support Atlantic and Gulf Coast rank and file groups.

The new union intends to set itself up as the sole collective bargaining agency for seamen on the two coasts. Reason for the break-away was the refusal of the American Federation of Labor executive committee to provide for a re-election of union officers satisfactory to rank and file groups. A court order restraining emergency trustees elected by the rank and file group of the marine cooks and stewards from "holding themselves out as officers of the union" was believed to have precipitated the break.

DETAILS LACKING

In the absence of fuller details from the East Coast, waterfront labor leaders on this coast intimate the move may mean the I.S.U. has lost control of the entire rank and file of firemen, sailors and cooks and stewards on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts. One estimate places their numbers at 20,000.

To date, waterfront men state, the rank and file group has never declared its intention to separate from the I.S.U., but has fought to gain control and hold a national convention of elected delegates. Whether this now means a dual union among seamen will be set up, leading to possible tie-up of ships on all coasts through conflict between the I.S.U. seamen and rank and file of the new union is not known. That the withdrawal will have a most important effect upon the negotiations between I.S.U. officials and the Sailors' Union of the Pacific following restoration of the latter's charter is the general belief.

VANCOUVER SHIPPING

VANCOUVER, May 11 (P).—Price of pilchards to fishermen during the 1937 season will be $3 a ton, it was decided at a conference between operators and the United Fishermen's Federal Union of British Columbia yesterday.

A report by Major J. R. Grant, consulting engineer, outlining the methods by which Ripple Rock, Seymour Narrows, could be removed has been received by the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange.

Ripple Rock, in the middle of the narrow inside passage which leads to Alaska and other Northern points, has long been regarded as a menace to shipping.

Representations to Ottawa, so far disregarded, will be continued.

Under command of Captain T. V. Hill, Mr. Aorangi, carrying a full cargo and 100 passengers, will sail from Vancouver for Australia on Wednesday. The Aorangi will be galli decorated, as will all other deep-sea and Coast vessels plying from Vancouver.
